In the Remark, pages 8,9,10, Applicant argues that Lin fails to teach transmitting a pause command to the first network.

Lin et al. discloses the client, during communicating with the first bear network, transmits a suspension request to suspend his communication session (see col.5, lines 15-24; fig.5, step 512; transmitting a pause command to the first wireless network). After that, the communication session may be re-established by issuing a resume command over a different bear network (second wireless network) or the same first bearer network (transmitting a resume command to the first wireless network) (see col.6, lines 12-23).

Examiner believes that Lin discloses transmitting a pause command to a first wireless network.
